FIG. 2. Same as in the caption to Fig. 1, but plotted as a contour map. The red curve is the static fission path and the density distributions for selected deformations along the fission path are also shown.